HOFSTRA CORTLAND

OCTOBER 29, 1954, HOFSTRA FIELD

A SURE GAIN EVERY TIME!

You will be surprised how much you can gain by teaming up with The Meadow Brook National Bank. Our varsity is made up of 500 lettermen, and women, who know the rules and strategy of banking.

Just as sportsmanship prevails on the football field, courtesy is a habit in our banking offices. Why don't you get into a huddle with our folks. You call the signals — we'll help carry the ball.

A Message On Policy

By Dick Gordon
Director of Sports Information

Hofstra has long since made public record of its avowed purpose to serve the people of the large community that is Long Island.

As an independent and non-sectarian college it is firmly dedicated and devoted to the needs of Long Island men and women for intellectual and occupational training.

The Department of Physical Education and Intercollegiate Athletics, as an integral of the college, is constantly striving to do its part in helping carry out the college's avowed purpose.

The introduction four years ago of night football seemed to be a constructive method of putting the gridiron game within reach of the suburbanite whose normal Saturday afternoon chores keep him close to home.

Hofstra's annual Christmas Invitation Basketball Tournament, now in its fourth year, is a means of providing the average Long Island basketball fan with the opportunity to see good competition on the intercollegiate level at moderate cost and pretty close to home, too.

In the scheduling of football opponents like tonight's foe, Cortland State, and St. Lawrence which appeared here earlier this month, Hofstra is trying to be of service to the many alumni of these colleges who now make their homes on Long Island.

Cortland graduates by the hundreds are now teaching in primary and secondary schools about the Island. They have made their permanent homes here, moving in from all parts of the State, and by having the Red Dragons on the Hofstra campus for football, basketball, wrestling and lacrosse contests we hope that we are giving Cortland grads the chance they want to see "the old school in action."

During our winter season rivals like Yale, Williams, Brown, Albright, Gettysburg, Tufts, Union and others will be in basketball or wrestling action in Calkins Gymnasium.

For your information, complete schedules are printed in another portion of this program.

We sincerely hope these schedules somehow reach the particular choice of alumni from other colleges who are in our football stands tonight.

In a football game, the power of the whole team can be wasted by penalties.

So, too, in motor fuels. An additive in a premium gasoline can cause a harmful metallic deposit—can make your car pay a penalty in lost power.

Amoco-Gas has no additive because it needs none. It's pure petroleum. It delivers power without penalty. Just test it!

MAJOR RULES UNCHANGED FOR 1954

By: Charles W. Tucker, Jr.

FOR the first time in the memory of most of us, there are no major changes in the Football Rules this year. Last year, the Rules Committee outlawed the Platoon System of Football and replaced it with the Limited Substitution Rule which necessitated a number of rules changes. The switch was well received. The majority of the colleges favored the Limited Substitution Rule because it allowed them to compete successfully with small squads. It also considerably reduced the expense of training and maintaining a football team, to say nothing of the expense of coaching, previously necessitated by offensive teams, defensive teams and specialists in each field. The spectators welcomed the change because they felt it had given the game "back to the boys" and it was much easier for them to follow the game.

The Rules Committee of the NCAA felt that the rules of the past season of play were quite satisfactory and that a certain level of standardization had been reached and did not warrant further major changes this year.

Although there are no major changes in the football rules, the Rules Committee has requested that special emphasis be placed on existing rules prohibiting False Starts, Feigning Injuries, and Interference with Play from the Bench.

FALSE STARTS: A False Start is any shift or movement which would simulate the start of a play, a charge by a linesman, or any unusual variation in the signal for snapping the ball. Any variation of this type which would tend to draw the opponents offside shall result in a penalty to the offensive team and any resultant offside by the opponents shall be cancelled.

There were instances last year of a team using the same cadence of signals to snap the ball all through the game, but changing this cadence within the 10 yard line of their opponents, delaying the signal for the snap just long enough to cause the opponents to charge offside. The result was a 5 yard penalty against the defensive team putting the offensive team in a position to score. Although the rule on False Starts has been in the book for some while, it has not always been strictly enforced and the Rules Committee has requested that this ruling be enforced most strictly this year.

FALSE INJURIES: As to False Injuries, each team is allowed five free times out in each half, but after these times out are exhausted they cannot take another time out except for the purpose of removing an injured player. There were several occasions last year in the fading seconds of a close game, where a team would repeatedly stop the clock by having one of its players feign an injury after each down. It was obvious that the injuries were not bona fide and were done for the purpose of permitting additional plays. On the other hand, the officials are not M.D.'s and have no alternative other than to grant a time out if the player claims to be injured. This practice is in direct violation of the spirit of the rule and the Rules Committee felt so strongly about it that they have written a paragraph in the Football Code of Ethics this year as follows:

"An injured player must be given full protection under the rules. However, the feigning of an injury by an uninjured player for the purpose of gaining additional, undeserved time for his team, and other practices of deceit such as falsely claiming that one's playing equipment is in need of repair, are dishonest, unsportsmanlike, and contrary to the spirit of the rules. Such tactics cannot be tolerated among sportsmen of integrity."

INTERFERENCE WITH PLAY FROM THE BENCH: In the past several years, there have been occasions where players jumped from the bench, ran on to the field and tackled the ball carrier who was away for an obvious touchdown. For some while, there has been an approved ruling in the Rules Book to the effect that if anyone, other than an Official or another player, interferes with or tackles the runner who is in the clear and on his way to a reasonably assured touchdown, the touchdown shall be awarded. This year, the Rules Committee has further strengthened this rule by stating that the touchdown shall not only be awarded but that the offender shall be disqualified from further participation in the game.

In most instances where the touchdown was allowed, the team, whose substitute had made the tackle, had not actually been penalized by the awarding of the touchdown as it would undoubtedly have been made anyway. This year, the substitute will not be allowed to participate further in the game which is more in the nature of a real penalty.

Spectators as well as Officials will be very happy that the game has finally reached the point, at least for the time being, where further changes in the rules are not deemed necessary. In the past, the rules were no sooner firmly fixed in one's mind when they were changed again resulting in confusion among the spectators, mainly, as to whether the Official was invoking the correct penalty. Although there may be minor changes in the rules, because of changing styles of football, it is hoped that they will be held to a minimum in order to promote a greater understanding among the spectators of the most popular game in intercollegiate sports — FOOTBALL.
